Authorized contact record

FICTIONAL SAMPLE - A contact record with an intentional evidence gap.

Client	Acorn Studio (fictional)
Named contact	Rowan Ellis / Studio coordinator (fictional)
Contact address	rowan@acorn.example / illustrative address only
Reference	DEMO-AUTH-002 / Draft 1

01 / Claimed responsibility

The invented contact coordinates document collection and receives routine workspace updates. The record does not establish power to sign agreements or approve financial decisions.

02 / Deliberately missing

No written authorization, approving person, signature, authority start date or expiry date is supplied. Do not infer permission from a job title or an email address.

03 / Suggested follow-up

Ask for a dated authorization identifying the permitted actions and the person granting them. Store the resulting source as a new revision and explain the decision in the review history.

TRY THIS IN THE WORKSPACE

Find the sample authority review. Use "Changes requested" and describe the missing proof. This lets you explore the follow-up and revision workflow with fictional data.

This is invented demonstration content. It is not a signed agreement, verified evidence, a legal requirement or an adopted policy.
